Subject: Invitation for Submission of Innovative Ideas for Patenting

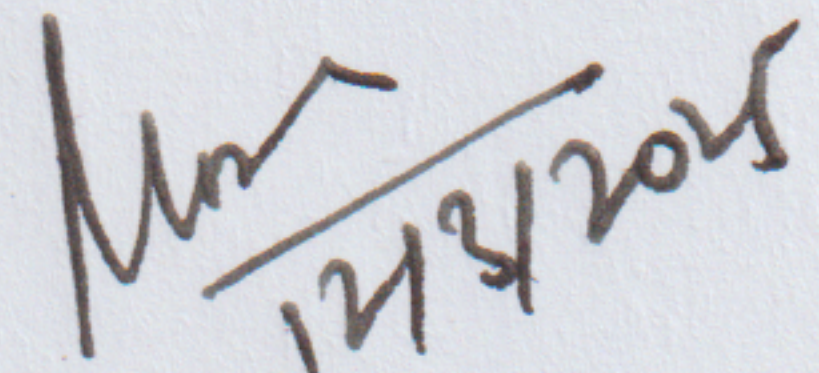

Sir/ Madam,

Baba Farid University of Health Sciences (BFUHS) is committed to fostering a culture of innovation, research, and intellectual property protection. In line with this vision, the University has developed a comprehensive Intellectual Property Rights (IPMC) Policy, which has been uploaded on the University website for reference. This policy aims to guide and support researchers, faculty, and students in safeguarding their intellectual property and facilitating the commercialization of novel ideas.

With the establishment of the Intellectual Property Rights Management & Commercialisation (IPMC) Cell in 2024, BFUHS is actively working to identify and protect potential innovations emerging from affiliated and constituent colleges. We invite faculty members, researchers, and students to submit their innovative ideas for patenting, particularly those with potential applications in healthcare, medical sciences, biotechnology, and related fields. The University will provide guidance and assistance in the patent filing process to ensure that valuable innovations receive the protection they deserve.

We request you to disseminate this information among your faculty and students and encourage them to submit their innovative ideas for preliminary evaluation by the IPMC Cell. Interested individuals may submit their proposals through the following email: dr.rajeevmanhas@gmail.com.

We look forward to your proactive participation in strengthening research and innovation at BFUHS.
